

Biollante Vs. Destoroyah

UNOFFICIAL

Dossier

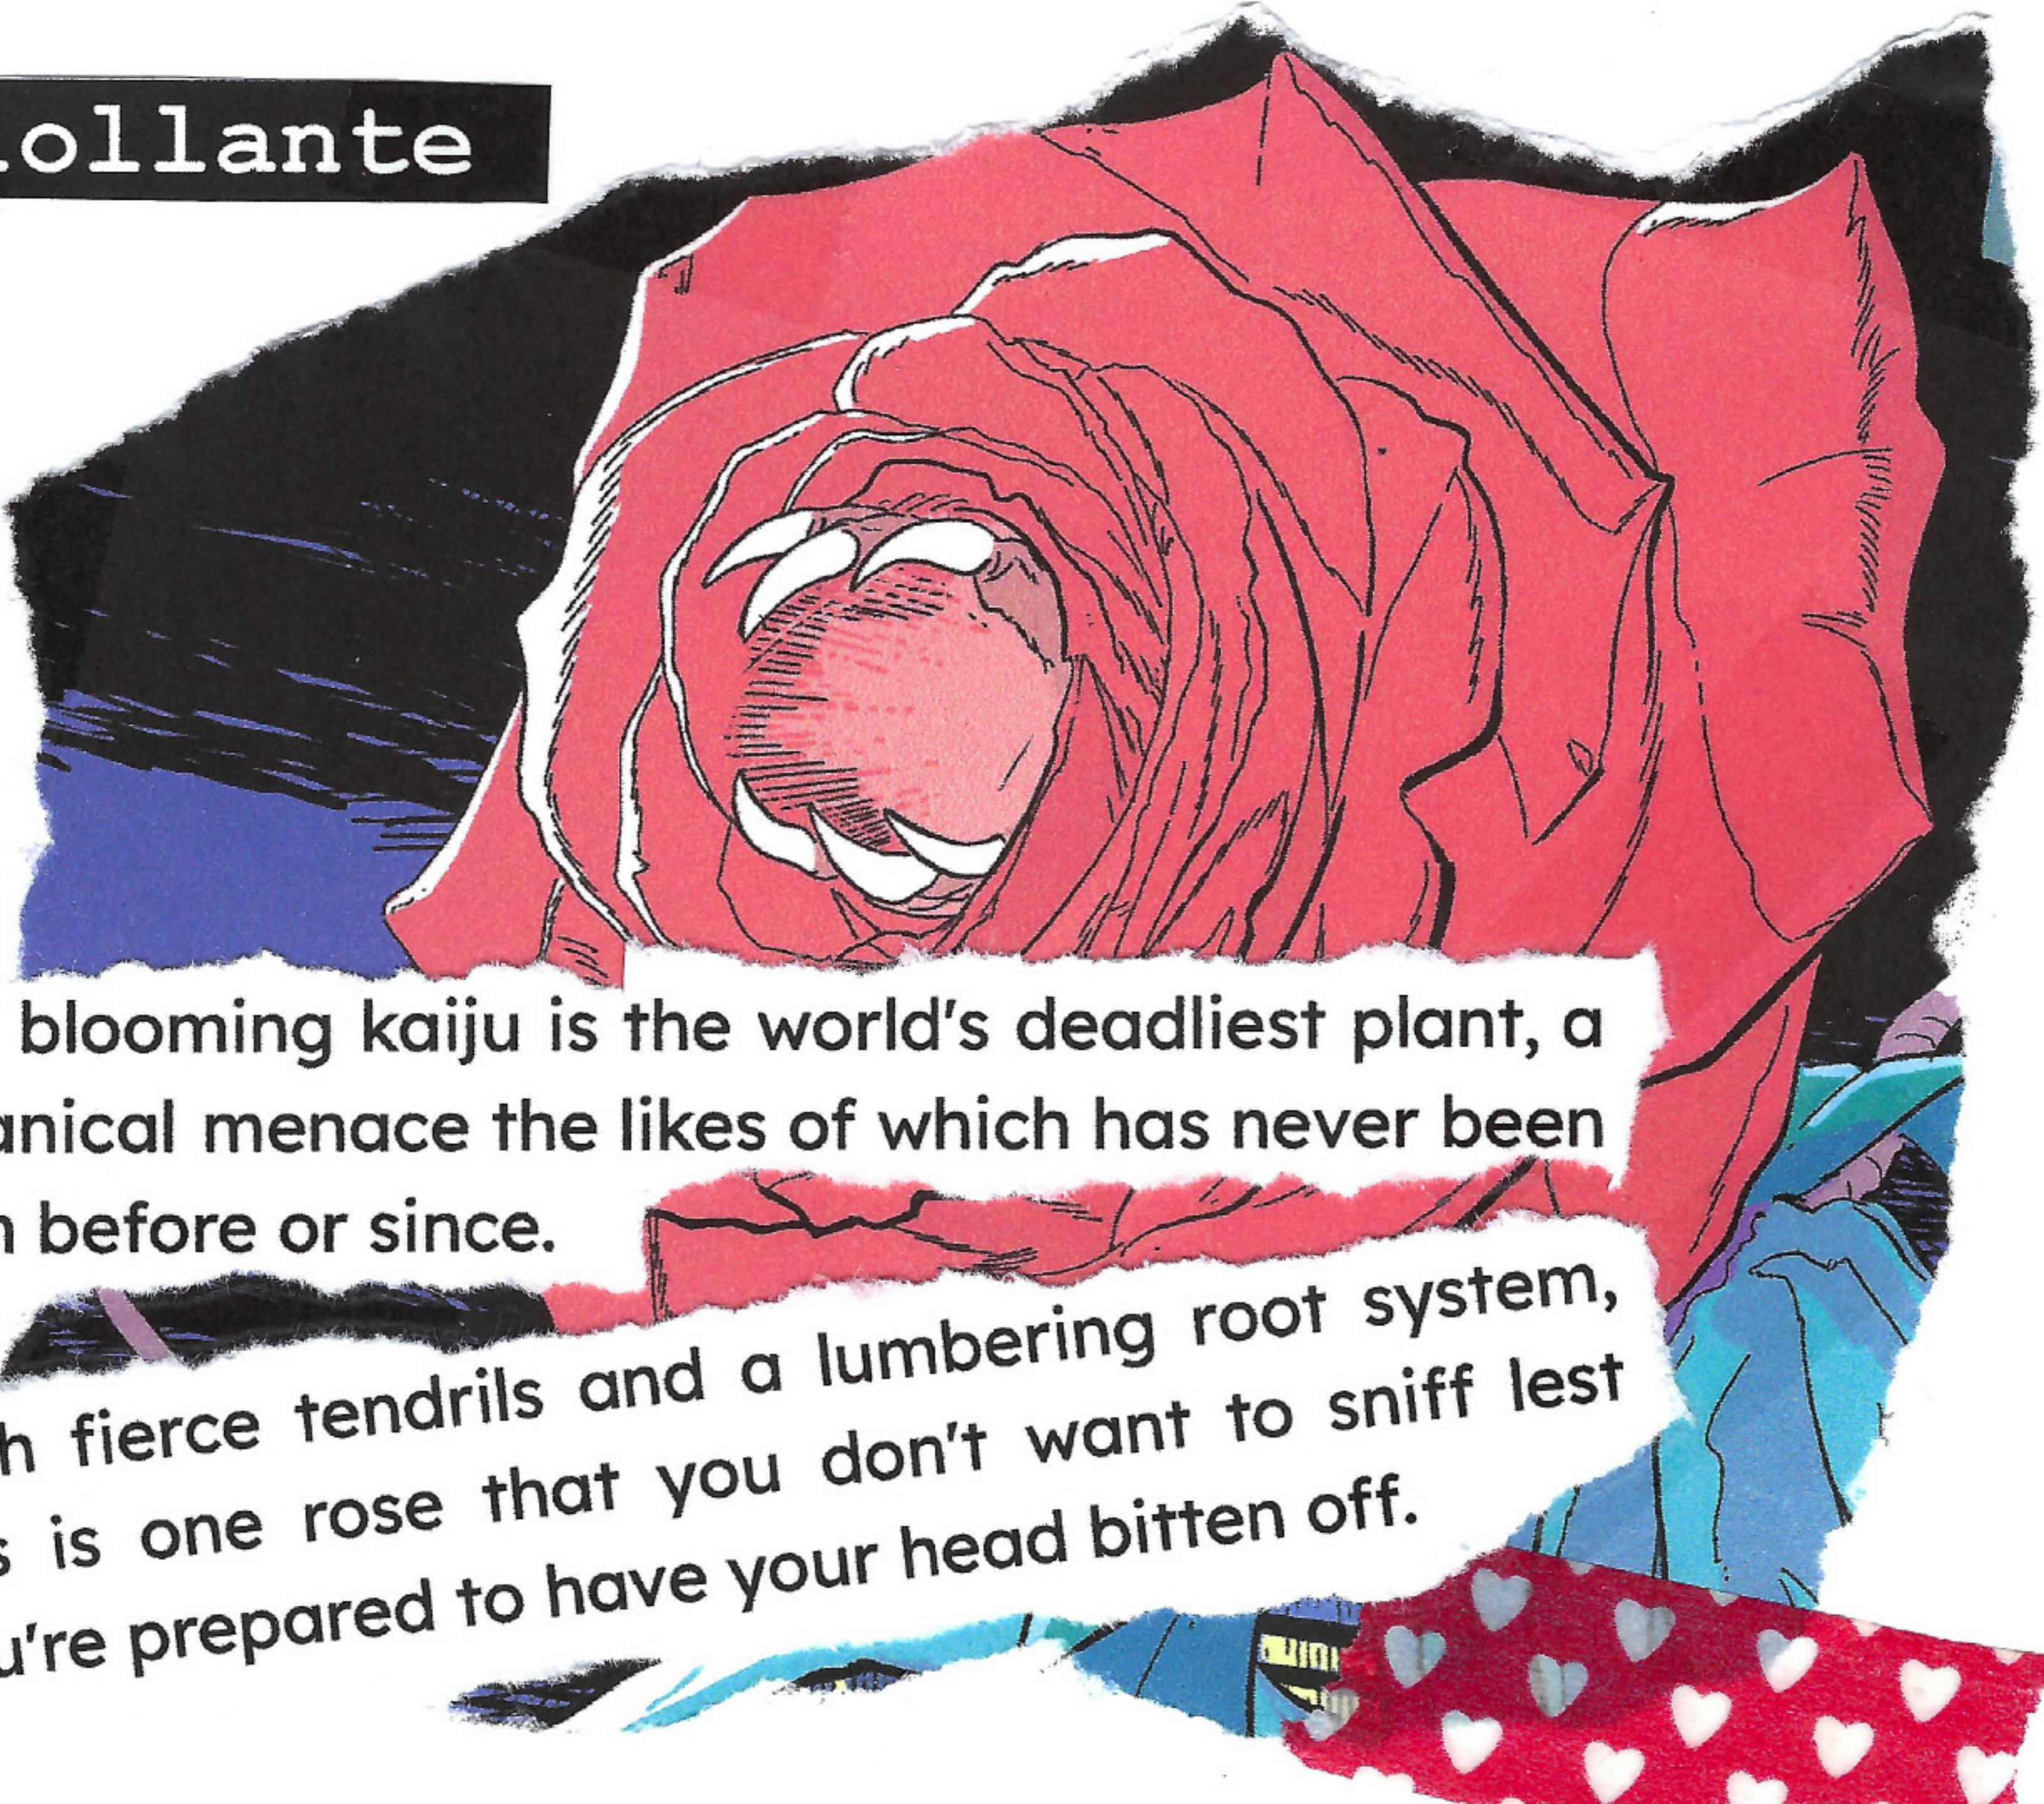

ZINE

Godzilla Rivals: Biollante Vs. Destoroyah

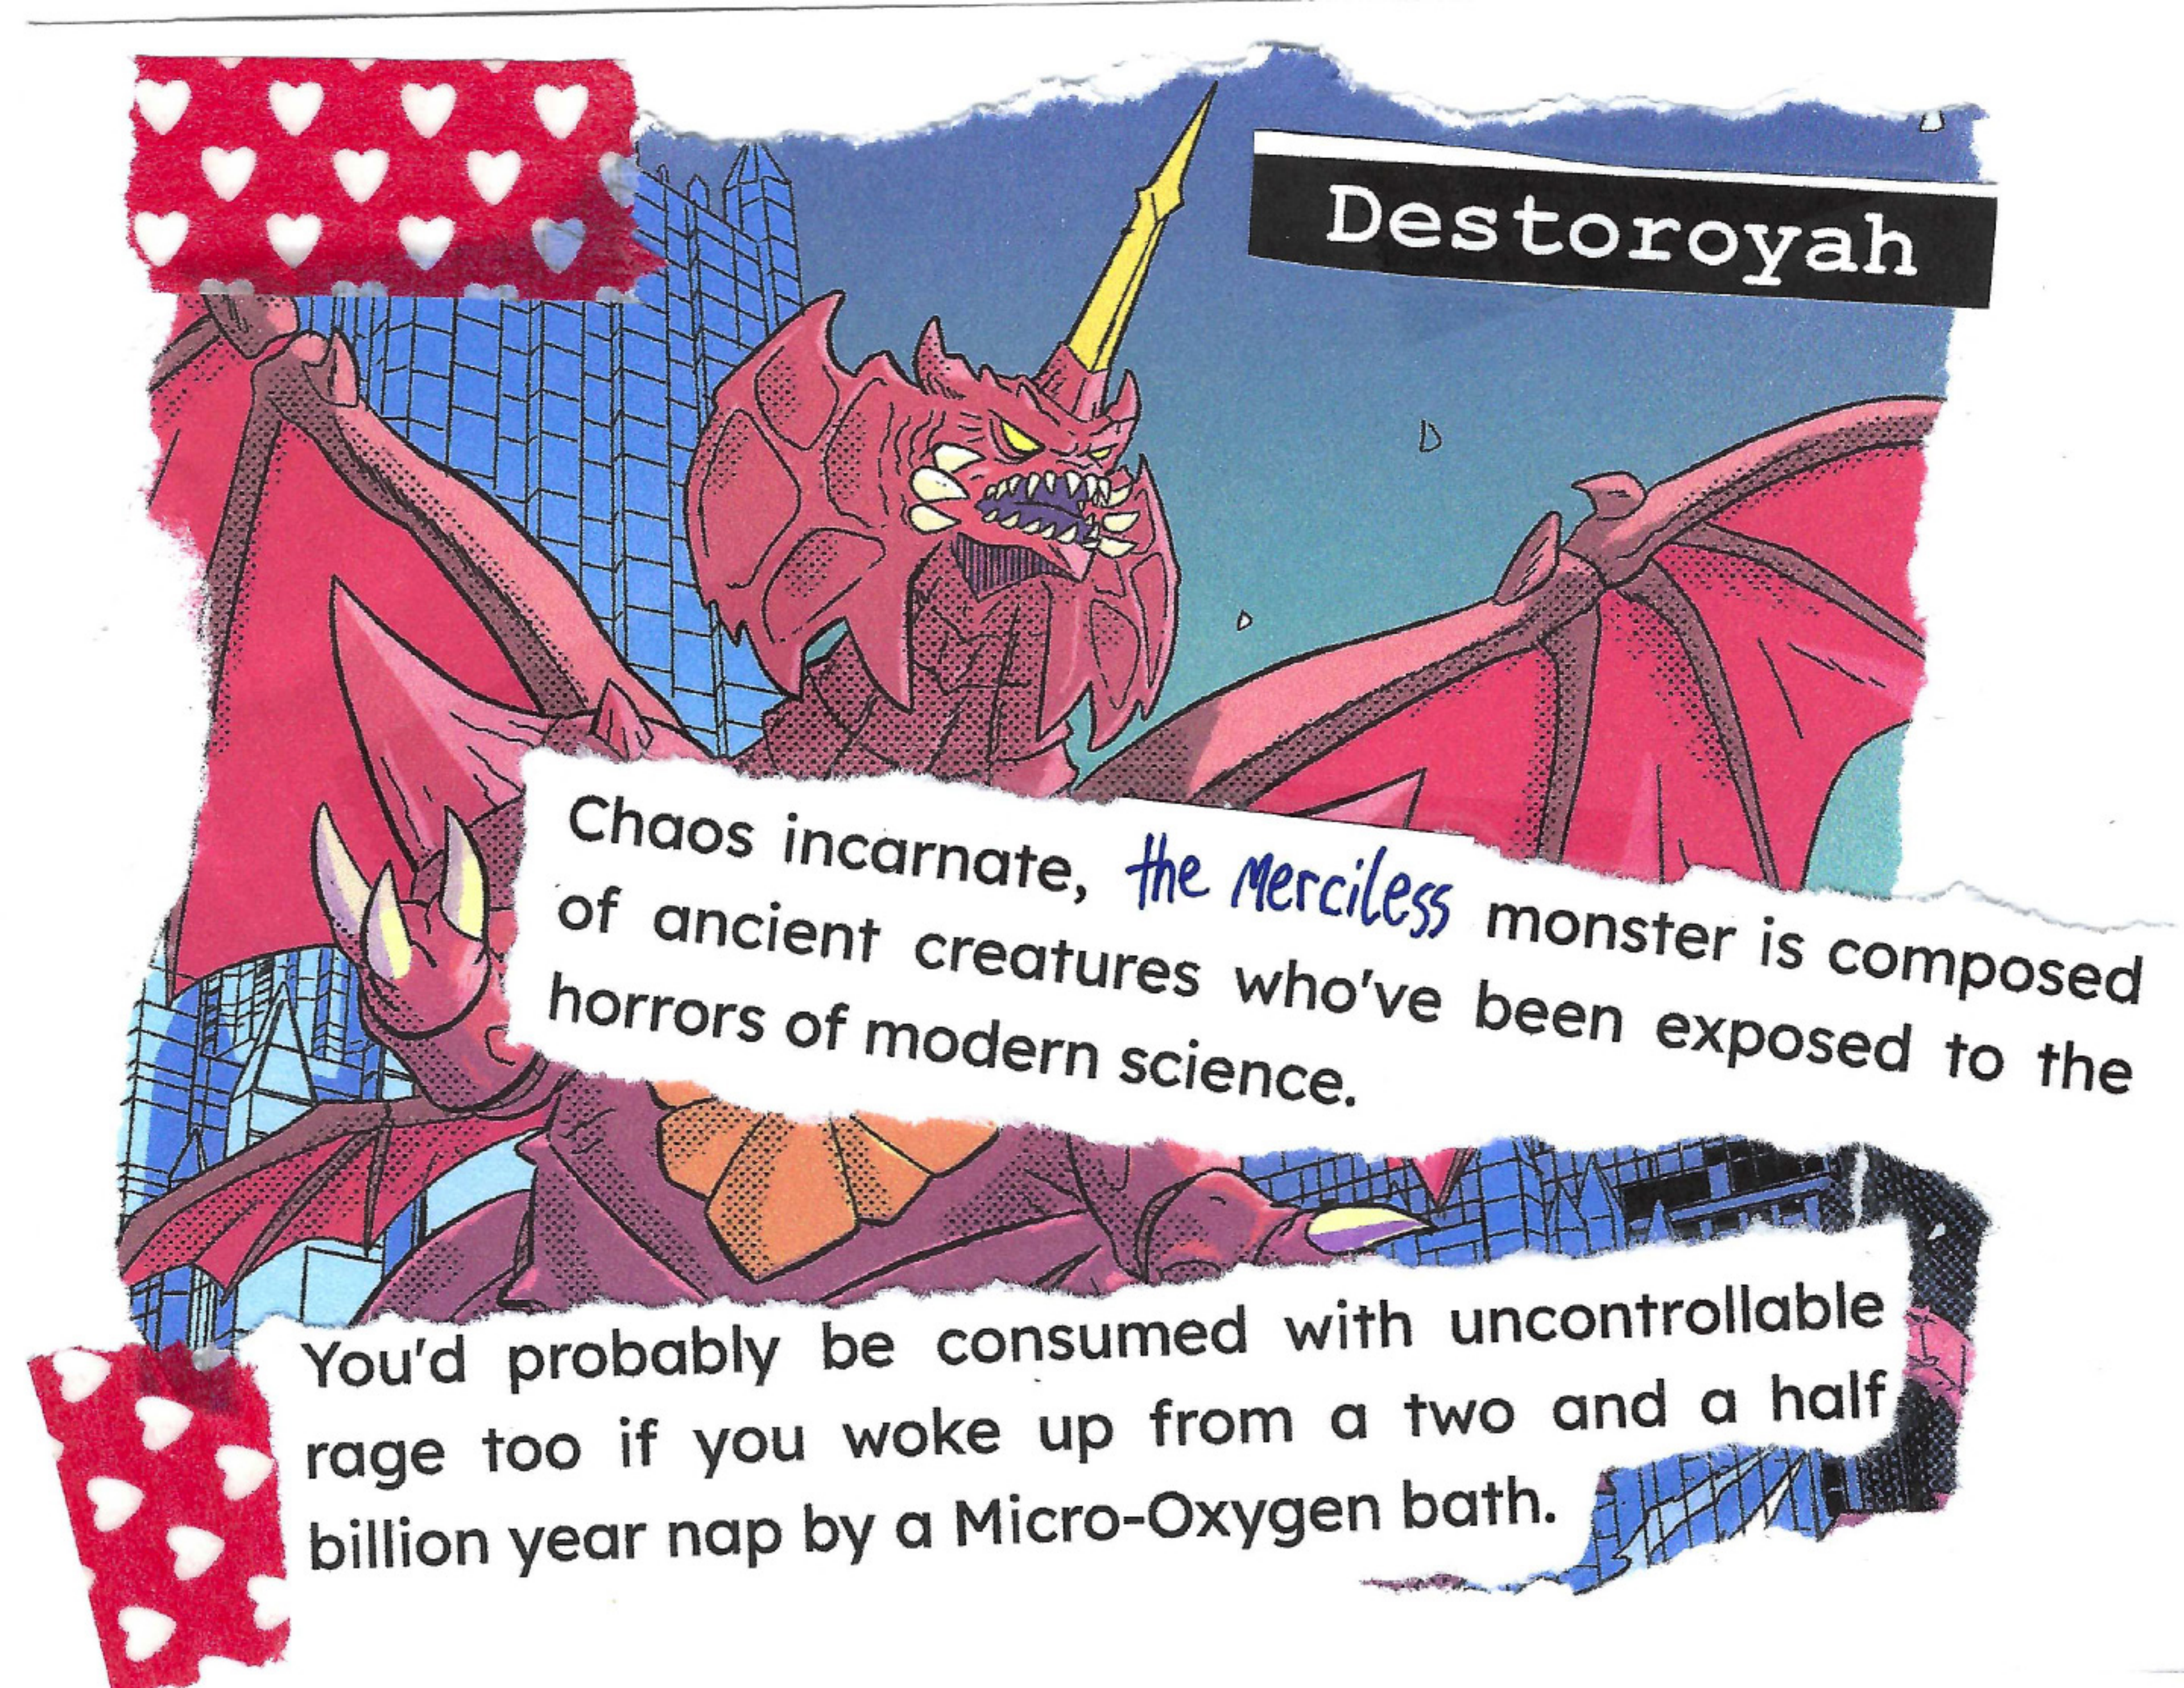

Nick Marino & Sean Dove ➡ in stores May 10, 2023

Biollante

This blooming kaiju is the world's deadliest plant, a botanical menace the likes of which has never been seen before or since.

With fierce tendrils and a lumbering root system, this is one rose that you don't want to sniff lest you're prepared to have your head bitten off.

Destoroyah

Chaos incarnate, the Merciless monster is composed of ancient creatures who've been exposed to the horrors of modern science.

You'd probably be consumed with uncontrollable rage too if you woke up from a two and a half billion year nap by a Micro-Oxygen bath.

Dr. Meena Shyam

Once considered a wunderkind of kaiju science, Meena was ostracized by the research community for her controversial Unified Kaiju Theory.

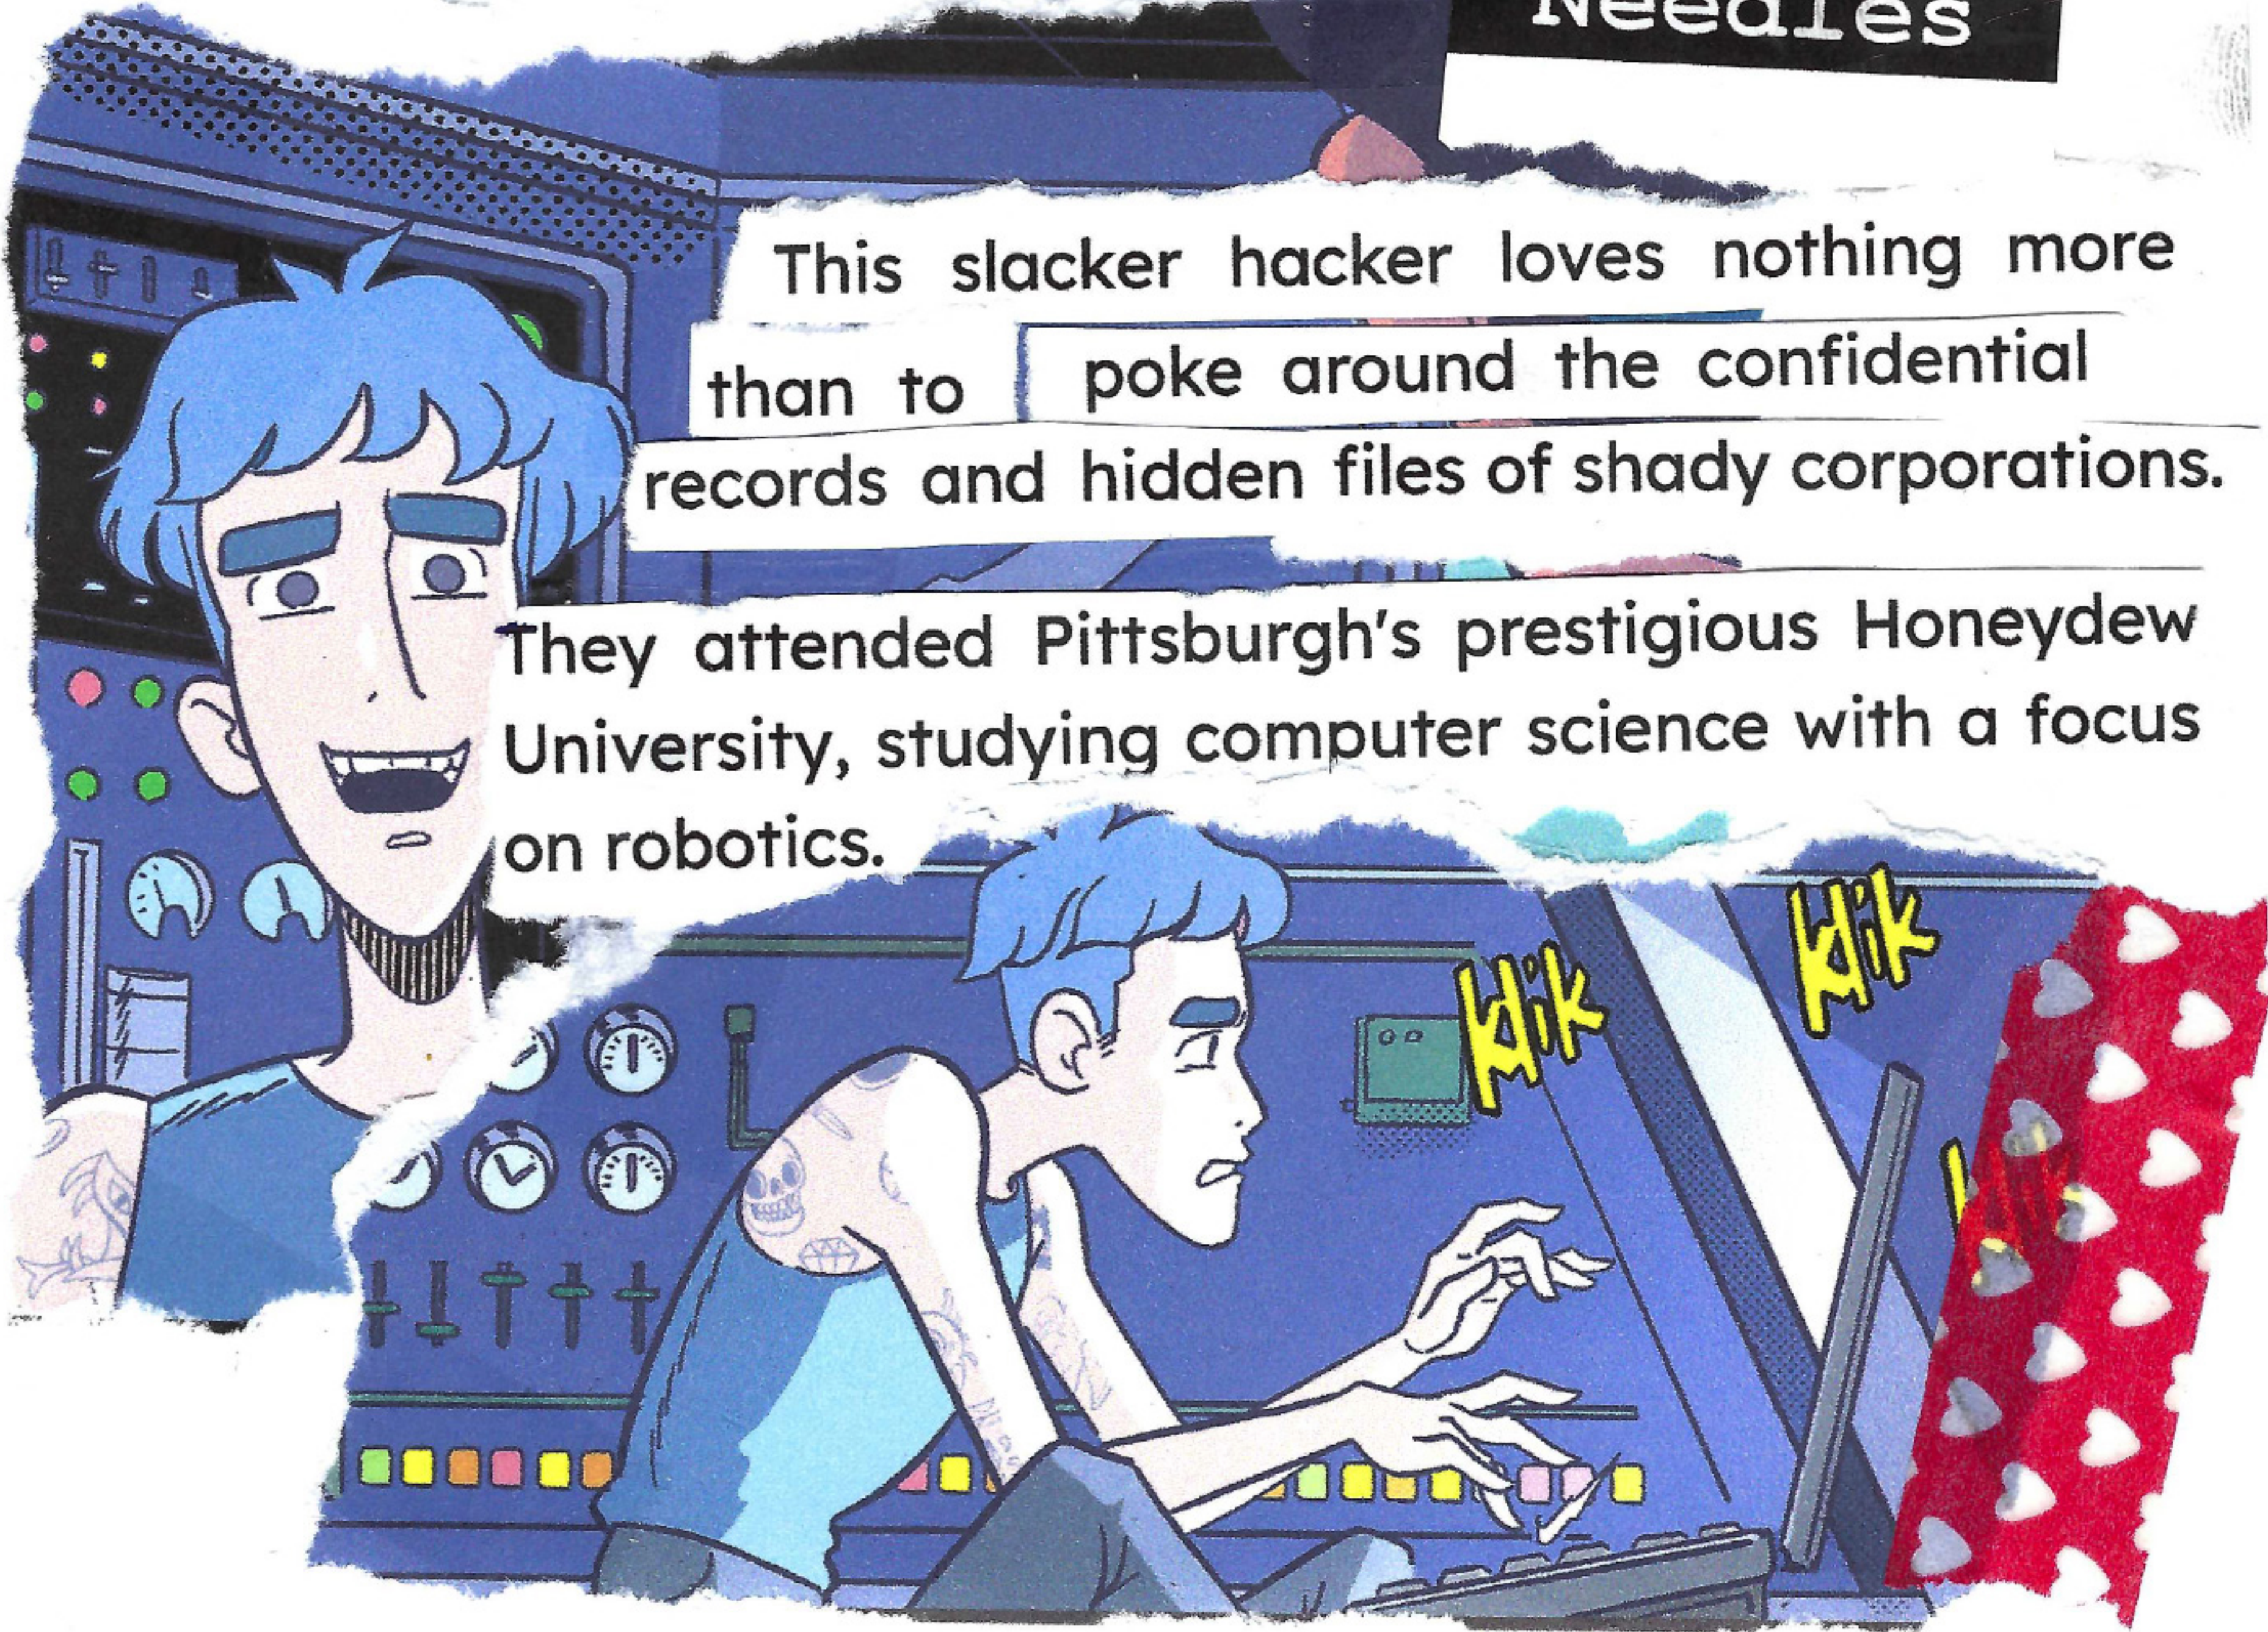

Dejected, Meena took a safe day job at Dove Labs doing pharmaceutical research and product testing in her hometown of Pittsburgh.

Needles

This slacker hacker loves nothing more than to poke around the confidential records and hidden files of shady corporations.

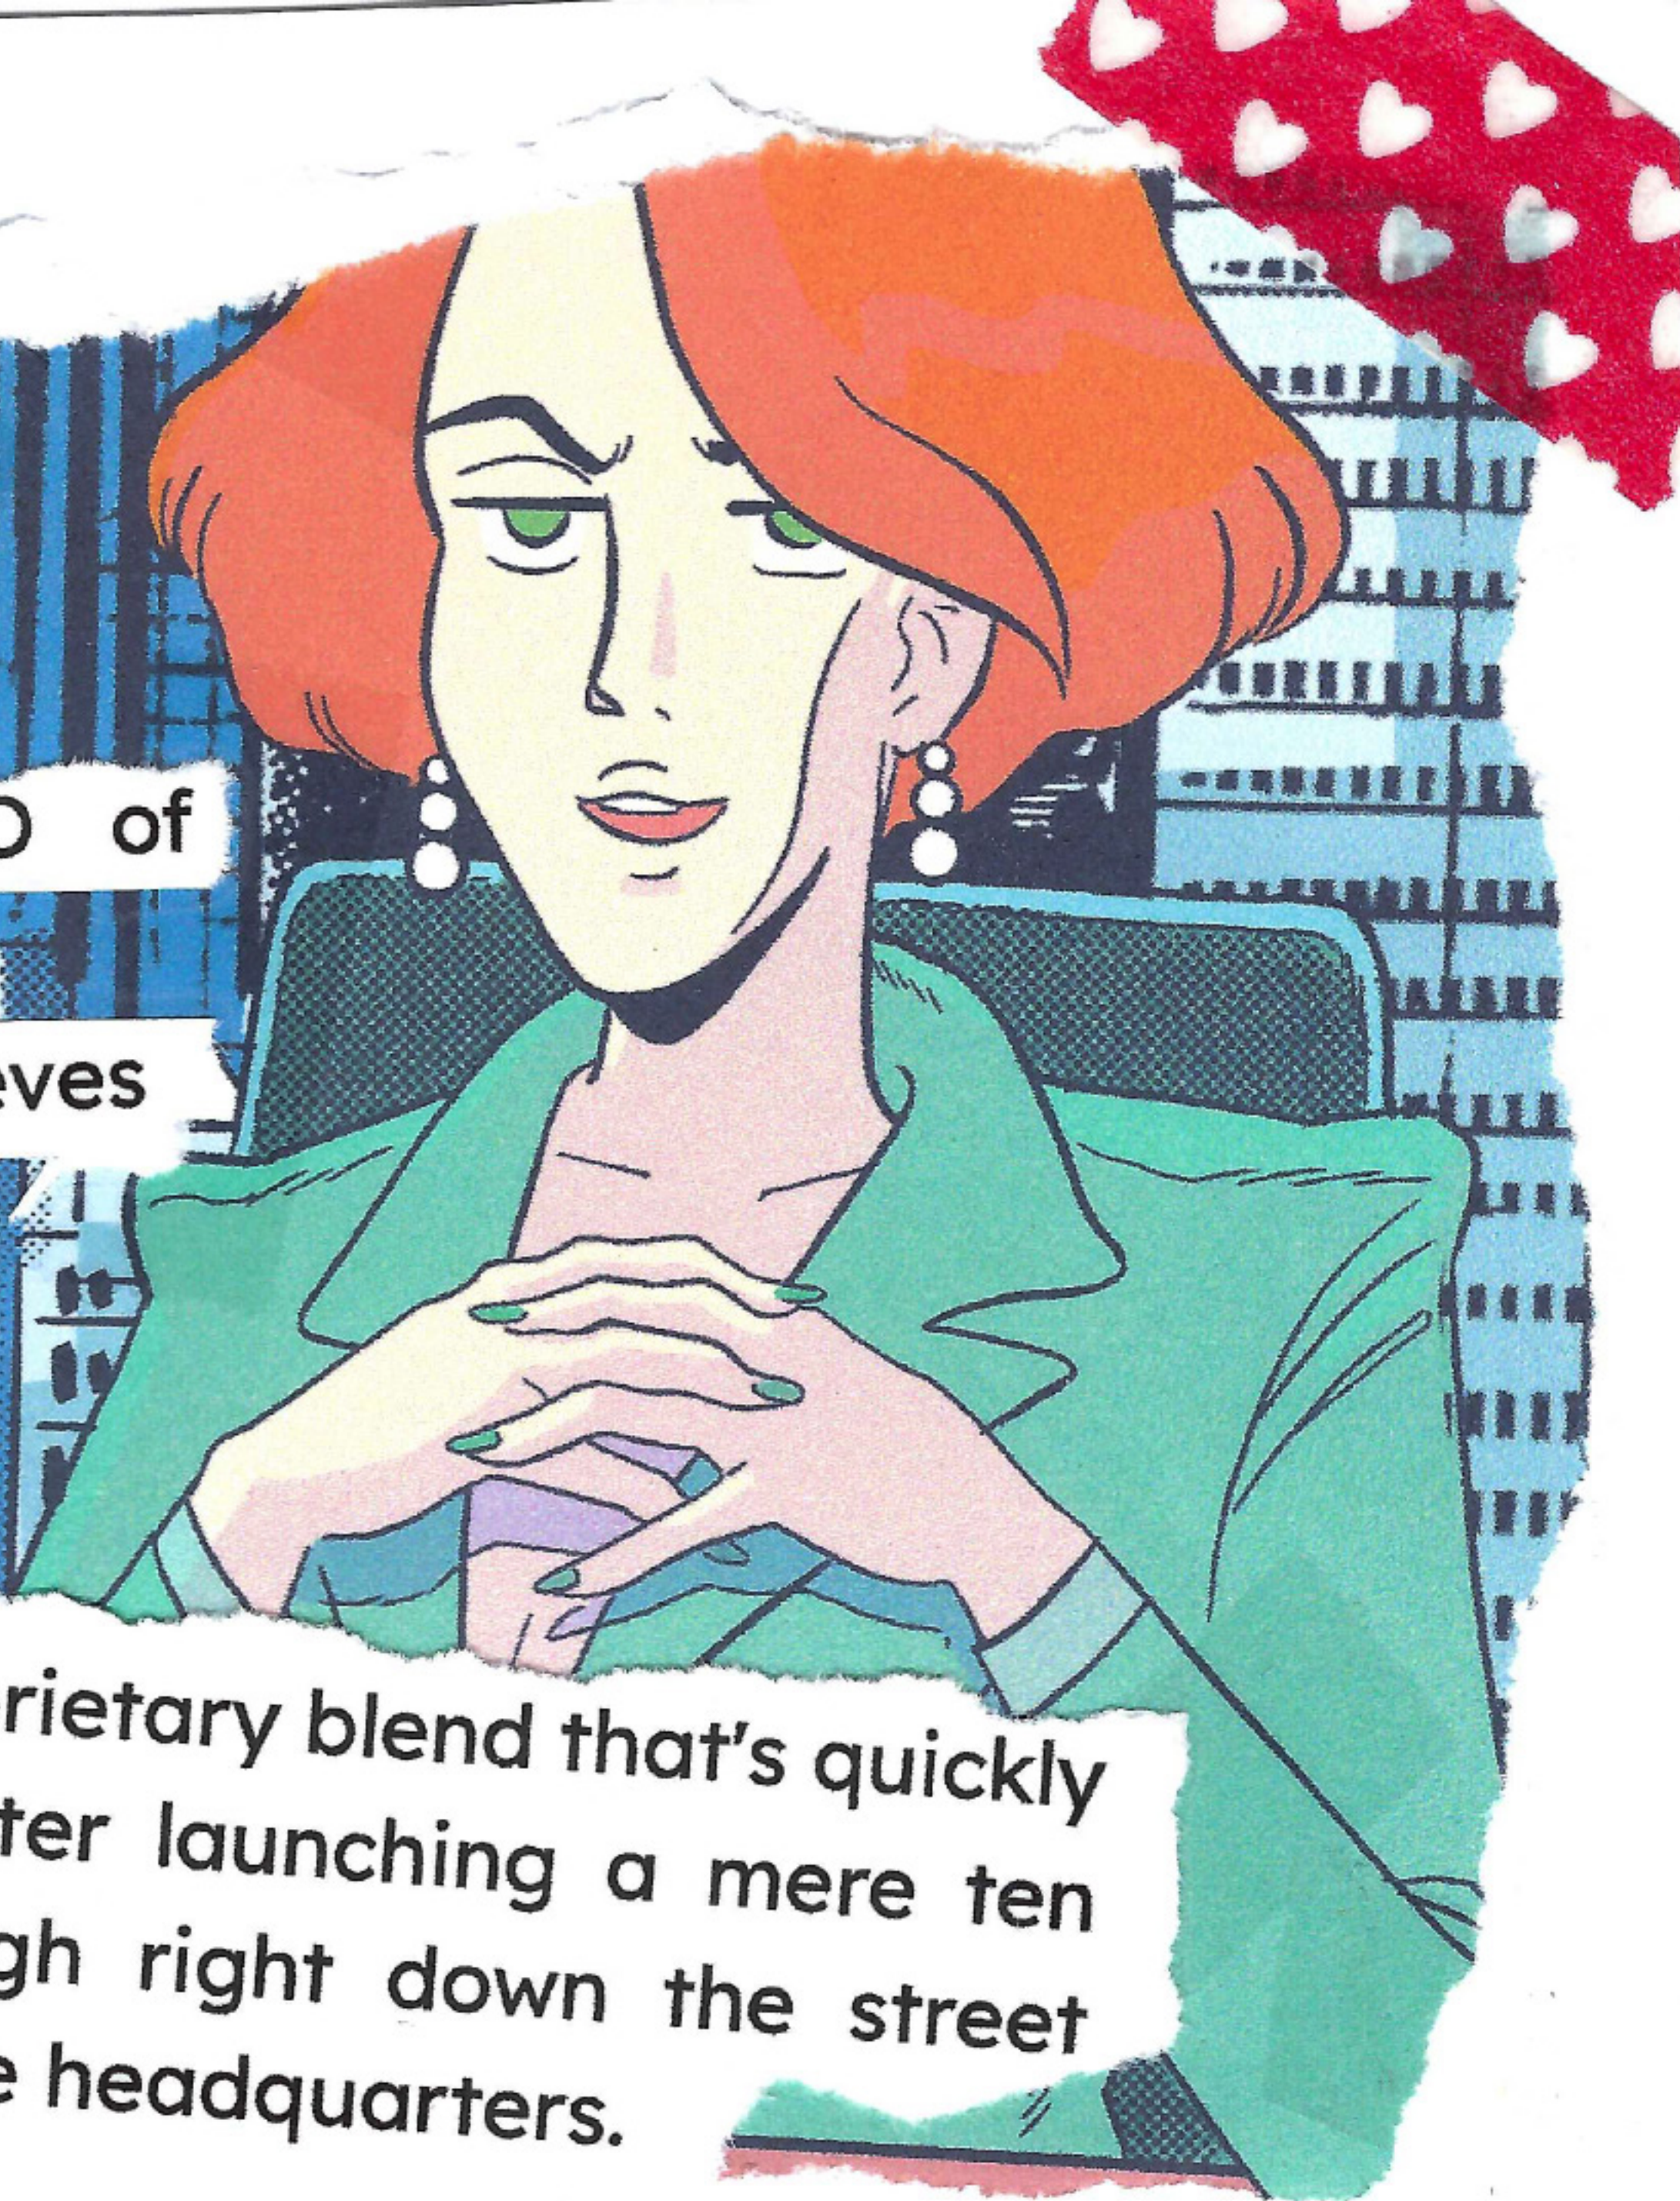

They attended Pittsburgh's prestigious Honeydew University, studying computer science with a focus on robotics.

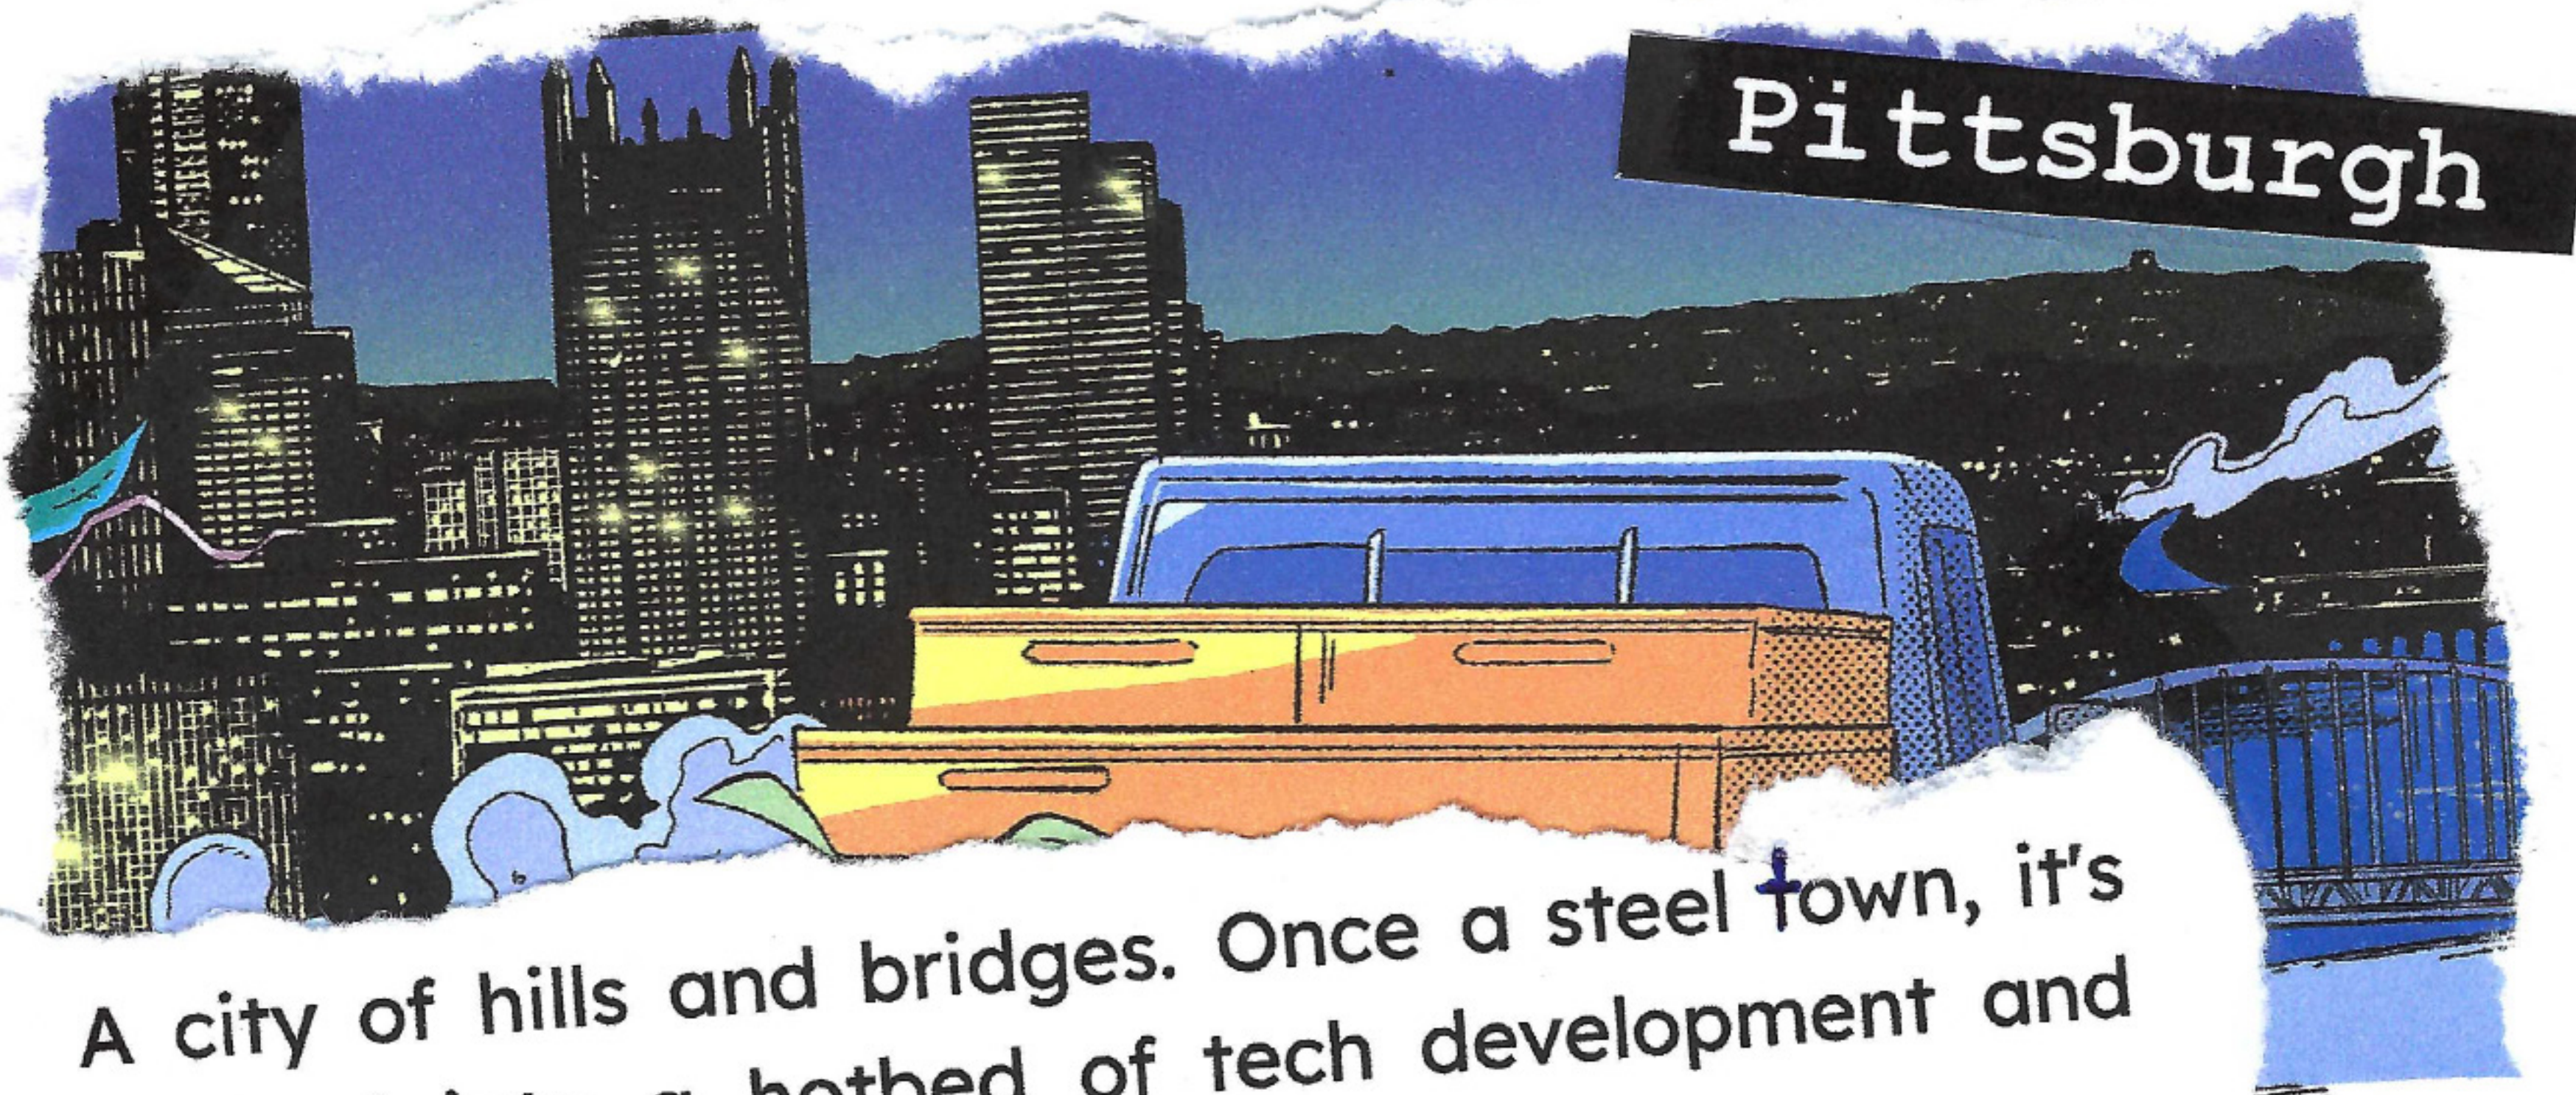

Annika Rose

The founder and CEO of beverage sensation BLOOME, Annika believes deeply in the potent power of plants.

Her Bio-II juice is a proprietary blend that's quickly become a global hit after launching a mere ten months ago in Pittsburgh right down the street from BLOOME's corporate headquarters.

Pittsburgh

A city of hills and bridges. Once a steel town, it's evolved into a hotbed of tech development and scientific research.

Over the course of one September night, the city will be radically transformed by two great beasts and their bombastic battle.

WATCH THEM ALL COLLIDE
IN OUR 40 PAGE ADVENTURE!

nickmarino.net

seandove.com